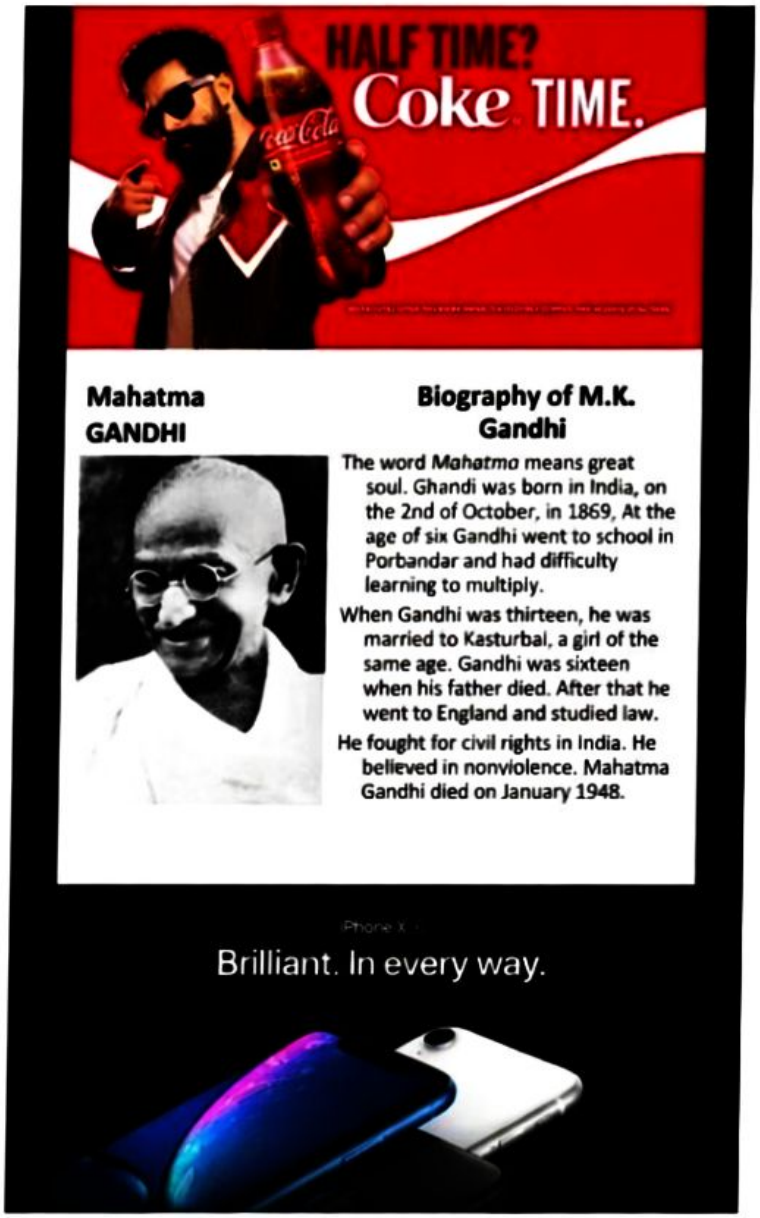
GOOD UI and BAD UI

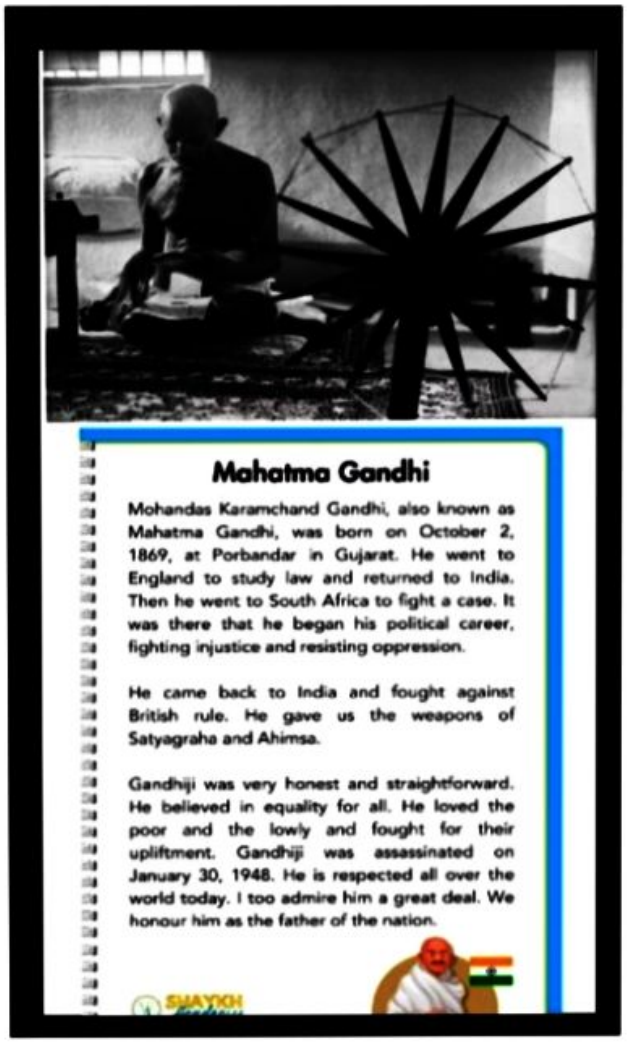
NAME: JAI GANESH S

ROLLNO:240701199

BAD UI



GOOD UI



Mahatma Gandhi

Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, also known as Mahatma Gandhi, was born on October 2, 1869, at Porbandar in Gujarat. He went to England to study law and returned to India. Then he went to South Africa to fight a case. It was there that he began his political career, fighting injustice and resisting oppression.

He came back to India and fought against British rule. He gave us the weapons of Satyagraha and Ahimsa.

Gandhiji was very honest and straightforward. He believed in equality for all. He loved the poor and the lowly and fought for their upliftment. Gandhiji was assassinated on January 30, 1948. He is respected all over the world today. I too admire him a great deal. We honour him as the father of the nation.

Feature	Website Without Ads (Good UI)	Website With Ads (Bad UI)
Focus	High. The user immediately finds the content they came for.	Low. The user has to "filter out" noise to find the actual content.
Visual Stability	High. Elements stay where they are supposed to be.	Low. "Layout Shift" occurs when ads load late and push content down.
Load Speed	Fast. Fewer scripts and external requests.	Slower. Ad networks often throttle page performance.

Feature	Website Without Ads (Good UI)	Website With Ads (Bad UI)
Trust Factor	High. The site feels professional and curated.	Low. Intrusive ads can make a site look "spammy" or unsafe.
Accessibility	Clear. Screen readers can easily parse the main text.	Messy. Screen readers may get stuck on ad descriptions or "Skip" buttons.